Overview

This is an overview of all the stories I have published, for anyone who is interested in a bit of background information and/or wants to know how the stories relate to each other. It will be expanded with every new story. The stories listed here are grouped into settings and sorted in the chronological order within the universe, not the order of publication, which is the order on Eka's Portal, Giantess World, and DeviantArt. I recommend newcomers to read the stories in the order of publication, though reading them in the chronological order works too.

Stories by other authors

This is an overview of stories set in the Vortex universe written by other authors. Note that I will only be listing stories here which I consider to be 'canon'. This means that these stories were written with my permission and were run by me before publication to ensure that they conform to certain rules, such as that all pred and prey characters have to be at least 18 years old. I do not take responsibility for the content of stories that are not listed here. The stories are sorted by author and include links for easy access, since they are not part of my galleries.
