

“Alright, let’s get this over with,” Greed said, sighing and looking over at Ladonna. The German Shepard T-rex smiled down at the two. “Curt, you go inside, alright? There’s something I want to do before I join you. . .”

“Can do!” the mantis replied cheerfully. He walked up to Ladonna. “Alright, let me come inside!”

“Sure thing!” the tyrannosaurus replied cheerfully. She turned around and revealed her butt, then opened up her anus so that Curt could walk inside. He did so a moment later, humming to himself and taking out a notebook from his pocket.

Greed looked down at her phone and quickly wrote a text to Pride, typing out, “Look, I need my powers back. I don’t care how much it costs.” She sighed as she sent it, and waited for a response.

“Whoa, it’s dark in here!” she heard Curt say inside of Ladonna’s ass. “Good thing I brought a flashlight—I came prepared, after all!”

“Good for you!” Sebastian said, smiling. He turned to Ladonna. “Ah, I love seeing students flourish, don’t you? Especially college students—it’s always great to watch them learn!”

“Mmm hmm. Sure,” Greed said passively. Honestly she couldn’t care less what was happening to the praying mantis right now—she just wanted to get out of here.

Her phone buzzed: she had received a text. Quickly, the kudu took her cell from her pocket, and read the message. It was from Pride, and he had written, “Oh? How interesting. What powers did you want back?”

Greed groaned—why did Pride insist on playing games like this? She quickly wrote out, “I want the power to control nervous systems back, alright? So I can get out of this stupid museum quicker.”

She put her phone back into her pocket and waited impatiently for a reply, her fingers drumming against her thigh as time ticked by. Then, another buzz—finally! She quickly took out her cell and read the message.

Pride had written, “As soon as you read this, it will be granted. But you owe me now, k? ;)”

A tingling feeling spread through the kudu’s body, and she smiled. Now she was ready to roll.

“Alright Curt, I’m coming in!” she declared, walking up to Ladonna’s butt. She took a deep breath, then used her powers to open the anus up nice and wide, so she could walk inside. Then, the kudu did so, and a moment later, she was in.

She found herself standing in some kind of large, spacious tunnel: this must be the anus and intestines. Curt was up ahead, scribbling something on his notepad, and he turned as Greed approached.

“Oh, you’re here!” he said cheerfully, walking up to the kudu. “I was just about to make my way down to the rectal cavity—care to join me?”

Greed sighed. “Sure, let’s go.” Now that she had her powers back, this would be easier at least.

And so, the two made their way down to the area.